

Connecticut Ancestry eNews – delivered September 18, 2012

Hello fans of Connecticut Ancestry,

A quick reminder that our first program of the fall is this coming Saturday, September 22, 2012, at the Stamford Historical Society with registration starting at 10:00am and the lecture kicking off at 10:30am. Come join us as we learn about using probate records to aid our genealogical research with our president Nora Galvin. When vital records are missing, probate may be the best way to prove relationships! We also welcome all our members to stay following the lecture to join our board meeting to help us plan out our future endeavors.

On Saturday October 13th you have the opportunity to discuss your research successes and difficulties with like-minded people at our round-table meeting at the Danbury Public Library. Our members have lots of experience, so someone just might have some helpful suggestions. Sometimes just presenting your own problem makes you think of areas you have not explored. We are always happy to hear about successful techniques from other researchers, too.

To round out the fall, on November 10th we are bring to Trumbull Library our genealogist, Fred Hart, who will be discussing some surprises found in the Land Records of our area towns. This entertaining lecture is sure to give you some clues in coloring in your own family history.

We need your help in advertising these events. Please remember that all of these events are free and open to the public. Bring a friend. Go to our website (on the home page or on the “News” page) and download the flyer and distribute to others who might be interested. Tweet the event to your followers. Like our Facebook page. Help us bring these great programs to more people.

Looking forward to seeing you!
